Description:

Born in 1983, Vincent Lemaire graduated from Beaux-Arts School Of Paris where he lives and works. Vincent lemaire creates experimental environments with photography. In his series « distances », the artist uses argentic photographs /pictures of the planet Mars made of computer screens. Hidden with a pile of rubbles, the lower part of the screen remains unseen. Many horizons emerges from the picture. This dramatic time-free universe calls back the tragic strain existing in the aesthetics of «fin-de-siècle» literature.
