Vieja lengua de sangre (Old blood tongue), 2025 serie Nenepilli wool, natural pigments 300x100 cm Unique artwork courtesy Galerie Dix9 Hélène Lacharmoise

Description:

Rosano Gamboa's tapestries are produced in collaboration with a family renowned in their Oaxacan village, Teotitlan del Valle, for their use of a pedal loom (telar de pedal) - a primitive loom made from a single tree trunk. Together, the artist and the family design tapestries inspired by the language of ancient local codexes, creating contemporary works that also serve as vessels of cultural and ecological wisdom.

Wool and natural pigments are produced on site.
