Description:

To propose larger works, a part of the project "The Inner Door" was done in collaboration with a community of women embroiderers and weavers from Guri i Zi, a village in northern Albania. The women of Guri i Zi, known for their weaving and embroidery, sell their products—such as tablecloths and kitchen cloths—in Milan. Milan has given them the opportunity to sustain themselves economically.

Each woman works on a different loom, which is why the pieces vary in size, personal input, and reflect their socio-economic backgrounds
