Description:
photogram, black and white print on Ilford baryté glossy paper, wooden cardboard, glass 2 mm, wood sticks, acid-free black fabric adhesive, oxidized lead, metal fastener.

The photograms in the "Emergence (superamas)" series are created by superimposing several gelatins on which unicellular organisms have developed. The different networks then blend together, and individual paths merge to form compositions reminiscent of scientific imagery of the circulatory system or clusters of galaxies.
