

GALERIE DIX9 Hélène Lacharmoise

Lithopanspermie A, 12 022-12 025

Vincent Lemaire

Lithopanspermie A , 12 022-12 025

wall installation, 2 photographs, print on Ilford bright silver fibre paper, pulleys, nails, ropes, asphalt

Image: 153 x 103 cm

Unique artwork

courtesy Galerie Dix9 Hélène Lacharmoise

Description:

Lithopanspermia is a scientific theory according to which life on Earth comes from accidental collisions between it and natural rocky foreign bodies such as comets or meteorites.

Vincent Lemaire is inspired by this theory to create these compositions in balance between pieces of asphalt and photographs of broken fluorescent tubes with accidental helical breaks that recall the shape of the DNA.