Description:

The video animation is made of 40 sequences of drawings inspired by film images, but also photographs shot by the artist,. It engages with the dialogue between historical and contemporary art, building on the heritage of modern and contemporary collections while addressing ongoing cultural debates. The black square that floats through the landscapes and interiors drawn on the pages of the Military Encyclopedia is at the same time a protest and a need for silence, an illustration of a black hole that suck subjects and light within its orbit, but also a call to rethink both abstraction and reality.
